

AIR FORCE HEALTH PROFESSIONS

MEDICAL SCHOLARSHIPS

Consider this; would you rather graduate from medical school faced with an anemic and unhealthy financial diagnosis or graduate debt-free and join one of the most progressive medical practices in the world?

THE SCHOLARSHIP

The Air Force Health Professions Scholarship Program (HPSP) can help you finish medical school and achieve your goals without financial worries. We currently offer three and four-year scholarships.

With an HPSP scholarship you can attend the accredited school of your choice and we'll cover the expenses. That means all tuition, books, supplies and equipment lab fees are paid. Additionally, you will receive a $2608.00 monthly stipend for living and/or personal expenses.

THE COMMITMENT

All we ask in return is a commitment to serve on active duty as an Air Force physician with a year-for-year repayment (minimum of three). For physicians, your tour of duty begins after you complete residency training. While on scholarship, you'll be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Medical Service Corps and spend 4½ weeks getting familiar with your role as an Air Force officer and healthcare professional.

Our physicians and dentists work with state-of-the-art equipment and enjoy an outstanding consultation network with their military and civilian counterparts.

THE BENEFITS

- 30 days of vacation each year with pay
- Average work week of about 45 hours
- Tax-free housing, food & clothing allowances
- Comprehensive medical & dental care
- Paid continued education
- No overhead expenses
- No malpractice insurance expense

TO QUALIFY

- Be a U.S. citizen
- Be accepted at a U.S. accredited medical school
- Be selected & commissioned by age 35
- Meet physical & moral requirements

Selection is very competitive, so get started on your application early. Contact us to learn more.

Matthew E. Nichols, SSgt
Cell 618-484-6076
matthew.nichols.14@us.af.mil

Call (618) 484-6076 or visit us at AIRFORCE.COM/HEALTHCARE